

CONTEMPORARY

Rick Carlino
Solo Exhibition “House of Continental”

Opening 2nd April 2026

M Contemporary presents a solo exhibition of new works by Rick Carlino this April at its Sydney gallery. The exhibition marks a pivotal moment in the artist’s trajectory ahead of a sequence of major presentations extending through 2026 and early 2027.

The exhibition focuses on Carlino’s most recent resin works, developed during a period of concentrated technical refinement. Resin is an exacting medium, highly sensitive to timing, temperature and environmental conditions. Carlino’s process is disciplined and methodical, constructed through successive pours and calibrated curing stages to achieve structural clarity and depth.

In these new works, material control is paramount. Tonal transitions are measured, edges deliberate, and light travels through layered pigment rather than resting on the surface. The compositions prioritise balance and restraint, with the material serving structure rather than spectacle.

The April presentation precedes Carlino’s participation with M Contemporary at Sydney Contemporary in September 2026, marking the fair’s tenth anniversary. In January 2027, the artist will present his first international exhibition, expanding his practice into a broader critical and collector context.

This exhibition offers the first opportunity to view this refined body of work prior to its wider international presentation.
